

PROVIDING RAPID, EXPERT ADVICE TO MEET DUE DILIGENCE REQUIREMENTS

Providing Confidential Advice in Due Diligence

HVR has a proven track record for the provision of confidential and professional advice in Commercial Due Diligence. The nature of Due Diligence requires utmost confidentiality and we respect our clients' privacy. Accordingly we do not advertise with specific case studies but illustrate an overview of our capability.

Our Approach

Working closely with clients, HVR assesses programme data against market information, as well as internal research data to provide impartial advice to clients considering a project or work package. We engage early with clients and our method for the identification and collation of relevant information, and our flexible approach provides for rapid and effective advice to meet client expectations.

Adding Value to Commercial Projects

Our independence provides confidence to our clients that projects are examined and reported thoroughly and in a robust manner. HVR's approach provides significant benefits; these are:

Providing Immediate Access to Technical Expertise

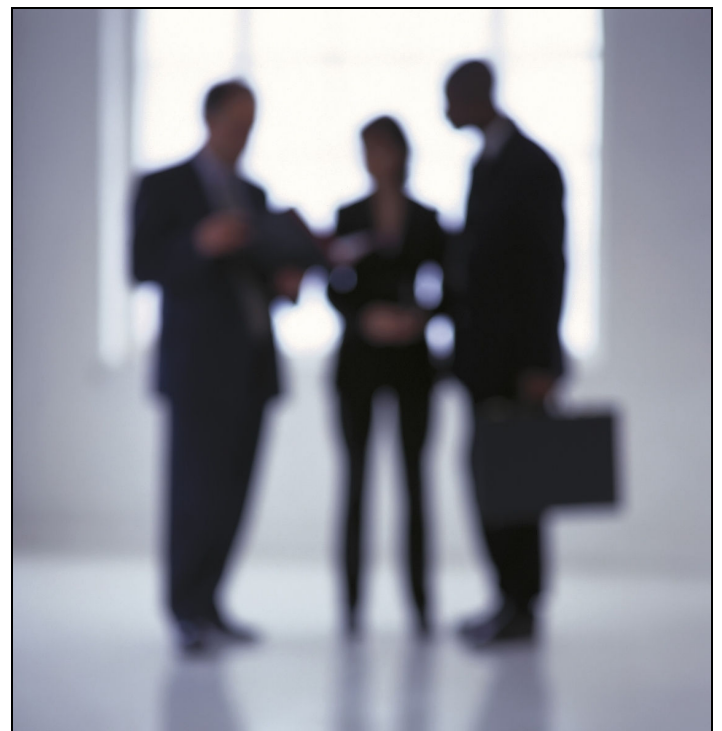

HVR is able to draw on considerable resource in a wide variety of domains in order to carry out tasks with the appropriate level of understanding commensurate with any task undertaken in Due Diligence. Providing assurance of programme feasibility is key to Due Diligence and our expertise offers clients confidence in our advice.

Furnishing Clients with Programme Management Knowledge

HVR is able to draw on its vast experience in programme management to assess projects for viability and our reputation provides credibility to our advice.

Responding Rapidly to Client Requirements

Our approach to Due Diligence recognises that clients face major decisions that need to be made quickly. HVR is able to react rapidly to requests from clients to perform Due Diligence tasks and can meet tight timescales often required of commercial decisions.

Our Experience

HVR's experience in Due Diligence and programme management is underpinned by a track record of working within the finance and commercial sector, developing best practice and reacting to clients' needs rapidly. In particular, HVR personnel bring genuine impartiality to their roles allied with a trusted reputation amongst industrial partners and within the UK MoD.